GPEENEVILLE

This week, the Greeneville Grammar school had a fire drill, which emptied the building in a short time. While the chil-fren were in the yard, the seventh and righth grades gave a splendid exhibition of physical exercises, using Walter Camp's daily dozen. The school drum borps were on the fire escapes and kept excellent time with the drums.

NORWICH PER CAPITA FIRE LOSS IN PAST YEAR IS SHOWN AT $3.66

Statistics on the fire loss per capita in towns and cities of 20,000 population and upward in the year 1921, show that New Haven was the highest in a dozen Connecticut cities with $7.91. Norwich stood fifth with $2.56 and New London was third with $3.56.

But for the paper mill fire at Thamesville in which there was a reported loss of $115,000, the Norwich per capita would have been at a much lower figure as the paper mill loss was the largest part of the total insurance loss of $140,003. In the Norwich fires there was a total of $2,355,393 in buildings and contents involved on which there was a loss in surance of $2,035,764, according $14,37.

CONCERT AT PLAUT CADDEN'S
An audience of several hundred people greeted Wheeler Wadsworth of the All-Star Trio and his orchestra at the Plaut-Cadden store Friday afternoon and thoroughly enjoyed the splendid concert which this orchestra rendered.

The concert was given in the spacious Victrola department of the store and lasted over an hour. The program included a selection of the biggest dance hits of the year, all of which were played in a way that will not soon be forgotten.

Zez Confrey, pianist and composer of popular hits was at the plane and illayed throughout the concert. He delighted his audience by playing alone one of his many popular creations, "Kitten on the Keys" and impressed them with his ability as a planist and accompanist.
